Statutory Requests for Information (FOI, DPA, EIR)

Introduction

This policy covers requests for information made under the Freedom of Information Act 2000, the Environmental Information Regulations 2004, as well as data made under the UK General Data Protection Regulation and Data Protection Act 2018.

Freedom of Information Act 2000

The Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOI A) provides for a general right of access to information held in recorded form by public bodies, including De Montfort University. The Act enables anyone, anywhere in the world, to request a Freedom of Information Request to DMU.

For an FOI request to be valid it must meet the following criteria:

- Requests must be made in writing (email, letter etc) w
- Requests must include a requester's real name: Any variation of a title or first name combined with a surname (e.g. Mr Smith, John Smith) w
- Requests must include a set of initials, w

Requesting your own data

All living people for Subject Access Request (SAR) to find out their data have the right to make a request. The University respond to any such requests within one calendar month as is defined by Information Commissioner's Office guidance. Where a request is deemed particularly complex this period can be extended by a further two months. DMU shall inform the data subject of any such extension month of receipt of the request, together

There is not normally a fee for a SAR, but if the request involves an excessive amount of work

To help us locate the information, the request should include the data subject's name (and any other names they have been known as (if relevant)), the period for which the information relates (the calendar year(s), or academic year(s) for students), the date of birth, the address at the time, and the DMU identification number (if relevant). In addition, information such as the faculty the individual studied or the directorate they were in, and any other relevant information.

We will send the information to you by email in an encrypted format unless you specify an alternative.

We normally need to verify the identity of the requestor and hence may need to see evidence of their identity. We ask for photo ID such as a passport or driver's licence if possible, or a birth certificate or other approved ID if this is not possible. This information

The fact and details that a data subject sent or received an email, and the subject line and date is deemed that person's personal data, the contents of those emails are not unless they include specific additional information concerning that person.

Third Party Requests

The Data Subject can ask a third party (for example a solicitor) to make a SAR on their behalf. We will act on the Data Subject's behalf if they provide their identity.

Please note, the timeframe of a calendar month of the information that is being requested, and confirmation of either the Data Subject's identity or confirmation that a third party is entitled to act on their behalf.
